

cylinder, together with live coils for providing an electric field, where the centre of the electric field around the coils coincides with the location of the device's other units.

~~Fig. 2~~